

QUALITY ASSURANCE

Vaughandale Construction Ltd is committed to quality and the continual improvement of the service offered to clients. We are not accredited to ISO standards on quality and environmental issues, Nevertheless we operate an auditable system as illustrated below.

Vaughandale achieves high standards through operative training and close management supervision.

Vaughandale aims to forge strong links with employees and clients alike. The end result being a working relationship that the client can come to rely, and build upon.

Vaughandale believes that 'Partnering', as recommended by the Egan Report, will be a promising innovation for both client and contractor.

As a member of recognised trade associations and federations Vaughandale adheres to their written codes of practice and standards of workmanship. Operatives are trained to these high standards to ensure compliance with statutory requirements and ACOPS.

Many Vaughandale contracts involve partnering with the approved material or system manufacturer, this assures the quality of the ensuing work and often guarantees the end product.
